

NEW ORLEANS

Meeting of Capitalists and Property Owners and a Delegation to Washington.

Further Action of the United States District Court.

The Popular Excitement Seething Like a Volcano Fire.

A QUIET SUNDAY IN THE CRESCENT CITY.

Warmth Legislators in Caucus Preparing for the Dreaded Issue—Fears of Violence and Tumult—The Local Press on the Situation.

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 8, 1872.

This evening prominent capitalists and property holders held a largely attended meeting, at which it was resolved that a delegation of representative men of the city be at once despatched to Washington to represent the exact status of this community to the government. The committee was authorized to pledge

THE FEALTY AND SUPPORT OF THE PEOPLE to the President in any measure it may be the policy of the government to adopt, and merely ask to be relieved of self-constituted agents who claim to represent the general government.

THE UNITED STATES CIRCUIT COURT

to-day issued a writ of certiorari in the cases of the injunctions granted yesterday by the Eighth District Court against the Custom House Returning Board.

The day has been a remarkably quiet one, with but few people on the streets. The Warmth legislative representatives met in caucus this morning. All parties are very reticent with regard to future intentions. The radical leaders appear to be in fear of personal violence, but, so far as your reporter can judge, without the slightest cause. Judge Durell's house was guarded last night by a posse of marshals. Secretary of State Rovee was

BOULEVARD HOME BY A SQUAD OF SOLDIERS. Packard's house was also reported guarded and Kellogg entrenched at the St. Louis Hotel. None of these gentlemen move out without a strong guard of marshals, and the most sensational stories of conjured-up fears are constantly circulating among them. The opinions of the papers, as expressed this morning, vary with their distinctive political complexion. The two republicans are not only jubilant but indulge in much ridicule at the expense of the people, evidently concealing

A DRENK TO PROVOKE OVERY RESISTANCE. The Picayune handles the affair with velvet gloves, but condemns Durell's action. The Bee is much more outspoken and decided to the same effect. The Times is bitterly denunciatory of Durell and the radicals. It calls him "the plant root and instrument of the corrupt and unprincipled ring of partisan tricksters," and says "we fervently hope he will be constitutionally QUESTED BEFORE THE AMERICAN PEOPLE as the object of their eternal scorn and detestation. No man so recent to his true duty as a judge and so false to freedom can retain in the slightest degree the respect and confidence of a liberty loving people." The same paper also contains a dignified yet pointed letter from De Poute, one of the enjoined Returning Board, addressed to Senator Kellogg, whom he openly charges with being wilfully guilty of falsehood and perjury. As might be expected, these press utterances have not tended to allay the constantly increasing excitement, which sees like volcanic fires.

The Issue To Be Preempted To-Day—Intense Anxiety in the City.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Dec. 8, 1872.

The committee of the Union Legislature is yet in session, and expect to remain so far into the night. They have not determined precisely upon what course to be pursued to-morrow. The policy of Warmth in revoking his call for assembling the Legislature is now under discussion. If it is not done the Legislature will probably convene at a very early hour in the morning so as to get the start of the Kellogg party. The Kellogg Legislature have agreed to meet at noon at the Mechanics' Institute. Their first action will be the appointment of

A STRONG BODY OF SERGEANTS-AT-ARMS, who will proceed to arrest and bring in as guilty of an overt act of contempt all absent members, numbers of whom are in the other Legislature. This will precipitate the issue. They are confident of settling the whole affair to-morrow. The Warmth men say that they intend to exhaust every lawful and constitutional power of resistance to arbitrary power, but that in no event will they be guilty of or countenance any violence.

Intense anxiety exists throughout the city with regard to the events to-morrow, but otherwise everything is quiet.

THE SITUATION AT MIDNIGHT.

The city is comparatively quiet. The restraining order granted yesterday by Judge Durell, placing the whole matter of organizing the Legislature in the hands of the Custom House party, is the general topic of conversation. Even republicans express astonishment at its sweeping character. As the matter now stands the Custom House party have won the fight. They have thus far been supported by the Federal Court in every demand.

THE TWO LEGISLATURES

are expected to meet to-morrow. The impeachment of Governor Warmth by the Custom House Legislature and the deposition of the Governor's Legislature by United States troops seems to be the programme.

The Warmth contempt case comes up in the Federal Court to-morrow.

To-morrow's Republican will contain full returns of the November election as canvassed by the Custom House Returning Board, showing Grant's majority in the State to be 14,924, Kellogg's majority 18,961, and the election of the entire republican State ticket. The Legislature stands: 73 republicans, 33 fusionists; the Senate, 27 republicans, 8 fusionists. The Custom House members of the Legislature to-day, in caucus, decided to take STRONG MEASURES against their opponents. All the members returned by the Custom House Board who do not take their seats, but act with the other body, will be dismissed, and if the Governor refuses to recognize their articles of impeachment will follow.

MEXICO.

President Lerdo Proclaimed in Formal Official Control of the Constitutional Government.

Diplomatic Duty and Citizen Fealty—Porfirio Diaz's Presence in the Capital—Scientific Exploration in a Congenial Field—Telegraphs, Railroads and Coast Lights.

CITY OF MEXICO, VIA HAVANA, Dec. 1, 1872.

His Excellency Lerdo de Tejada was declared elected President on the 16th November, and on the 15th a decree to that effect was published, when the diplomatic corps visited him in an unofficial capacity.

Today the new President took formal possession of his office, and to-morrow the Diplomatic Corps will make an official visit.

Preparations are making for a series of festivities in honor of the election of President Lerdo.

MINISTERIAL RECONSTRUCTION.

Several changes in the Cabinet will be made immediately after the adjournment of Congress, which will take place on the 15th inst.

PRESIDENCY OF THE SUPREME COURT.

An election for President of the Supreme Court has been ordered for the second and fourth Sundays of February. Generals Anza, Iglesias and Riva-Palacios are candidates.

CHARGES OF CORPORATE COMPLICITY IN ELECTION FRAUDS.

The Mayor and several Aldermen of the city of Mexico, who are charged with an attempt to commit fraud at the recent municipal election, have been suspended by order of the Governor from their functions.

PORFIRIO DIAZ AND THE PRESIDENT.

Porfirio Diaz arrived in the capital on the 17th ult., and had a satisfactory interview with the President.

His presence in the city caused no excitement.

PROMINENT PERSONALS.

Matias Romero has returned from Guatemala. He now devotes himself to agricultural pursuits.

Generals Guerra, Barrojo, Jimenez and Ortega are expected in the capital soon.

NATURE IN REVOLUTIONARY UPRISING.

A number of shocks of earthquake were felt in Yucatan, Lower Michoacan.

A new volcano was forming and the eruptions were frequent.

Several scientific gentlemen have gone to the place.

ELECTRIC COMMUNICATION WITH THE LAND OF MOROS.

Telegraphic communication between the city of Mexico and the United States has been re-established, and the members of the Associated Press of the capital will meet to-morrow and celebrate the event, and at the same time honor the memory of Professor Morse.

AMERICAN ENTERPRISE.

The General Rosecrans railroad project, as modified, has passed Congress and been sent to the Executive for approval.

A new lighthouse has been established at Vera Cruz.

WEATHER REPORT.

OFFICE OF THE CHIEF SIGNAL OFFICER, WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 9—1 A. M.

Synopsis for the Past Twenty-four Hours.

The thermometer has rapidly risen in the North-west and over the Upper Lakes and Michigan and thence to Arkansas and Tennessee, with northerly winds and clearing and cold weather; in the Gulf and South Atlantic States southerly to northwesterly winds, partly cloudy and cooler weather, with higher pressure; on the Lower Lakes and the St. Lawrence Valley and thence over the Middle and Eastern States northwesterly to northwesterly winds, cloudy weather, occasional light snow and rain, with low barometers and high temperatures.

Probabilities.

For the Northwest and thence to Lake Huron and southward to Arkansas and Tennessee, clearing weather, low temperatures, rising barometers and northwesterly winds; in the Gulf and South Atlantic States, winds shifting to northwesterly, with reduced temperatures, increased pressure and generally clear weather; over the Lower Lake region and in Canada rising barometers, colder and cloudy but, clearing weather, with light snow; in the Middle States and New England, increasing pressure, southerly to northwesterly winds, occasional light rain and snow, followed by the afternoon clearing weather and lower temperatures. Warning signals continue at Duluth, Milwaukee, Chicago, Grand Haven, Detroit, Toledo, Buffalo, Cleveland, Rochester and Oswego.

The Weather in This City Yesterday.

The following record will show the changes in the temperature for the past twenty-four hours in comparison with the corresponding day of last year, as indicated by the thermometer at Rudin's Pharmacy, Herald Building:

1871. 1872.

3 A. M. 39 33 3 P. M. 44 42

6 A. M. 39 33 6 P. M. 36 42

9 A. M. 39 44 9 P. M. 32 39

12 M. 42 44 12 P. M. 39 37

Average temperature yesterday..... 40%

Average temperature for corresponding date last year..... 37%

CONCERT AT ST. FRANCIS XAVIER'S CHURCH.

A concert was given last evening at the church of the Jesuit Fathers, in Sixteenth street, for the benefit of the poor of the parish. The church was crowded before the concert began, and the charitable object for which it was given received material benefit, over two thousand dollars being turned into the treasury. Dr. William Berge officiated as organist and conductor, and a large number of soloists and chorus singers assisted. The concert opened with the overture of "Danza Ladrada," which was played in a most brilliant manner by the organist. Next followed the beautiful chorus from St. Paul, "How Lovely Are the Messengers," which received full justice at the hands of the choir of the church. An adagio of "The Hall of Mirrors" by Mr. Lebere played a melange of popular airs on the saxophone, an instrument rarely heard outside the orchestra, and he gave effect to an "Ave Verum" of Signor Tamaro, which was sung by the composer. The saxophone obligato to this charming melody enhanced it considerably. Mr. Eben played some brilliant flute variations on the theme of Chopin's "Marche Tancrède," and Mr. Sachse added a trumpet solo, the other attractions of the concert. An adagio of "The Hall of Mirrors" by Mr. Lebere played a melange of popular airs on the saxophone, an instrument rarely heard outside the orchestra, and he gave effect to an "Ave Verum" of Signor Tamaro, which was sung by the composer. The saxophone obligato to this charming melody enhanced it considerably. Mr. Eben played some brilliant flute variations on the theme of Chopin's "Marche Tancrède," and Mr. Sachse added a trumpet solo, the other attractions of the concert. An adagio of "The Hall of Mirrors" by Mr. Lebere played a melange of popular airs on the saxophone, an instrument rarely heard outside the orchestra, and he gave effect to an "Ave Verum" of Signor Tamaro, which was sung by the composer. The saxophone obligato to this charming melody enhanced it considerably. Mr. Eben played some brilliant flute variations on the theme of Chopin's "Marche Tancrède," and Mr. Sachse added a trumpet solo, the other attractions of the concert. An adagio of "The Hall of Mirrors" by Mr. Lebere played a melange of popular airs on the saxophone, an instrument rarely heard outside the orchestra, and he gave effect to an "Ave Verum" of Signor Tamaro, which was sung by the composer. The saxophone obligato to this charming melody enhanced it considerably. Mr. Eben played some brilliant flute variations on the theme of Chopin's "Marche Tancrède," and Mr. Sachse added a trumpet solo, the other attractions of the concert. An adagio of "The Hall of Mirrors" by Mr. Lebere played a melange of popular airs on the saxophone, an instrument rarely heard outside the orchestra, and he gave effect to an "Ave Verum" of Signor Tamaro, which was sung by the composer. The saxophone obligato to this charming melody enhanced it considerably. Mr. Eben played some brilliant flute variations on the theme of Chopin's "Marche Tancrède," and Mr. Sachse added a trumpet solo, the other attractions of the concert. An adagio of "The Hall of Mirrors" by Mr. Lebere played a melange of popular airs on the saxophone, an instrument rarely heard outside the orchestra, and he gave effect to an "Ave Verum" of Signor Tamaro, which was sung by the composer. The saxophone obligato to this charming melody enhanced it considerably. Mr. Eben played some brilliant flute variations on the theme of Chopin's "Marche Tancrède," and Mr. Sachse added a trumpet solo, the other attractions of the concert. An adagio of "The Hall of Mirrors" by Mr. Lebere played a melange of popular airs on the saxophone, an instrument rarely heard outside the orchestra, and he gave effect to an "Ave Verum" of Signor Tamaro, which was sung by the composer. The saxophone obligato to this charming melody enhanced it considerably. Mr. Eben played some brilliant flute variations on the theme of Chopin's "Marche Tancrède," and Mr. Sachse added a trumpet solo, the other attractions of the concert. An adagio of "The Hall of Mirrors" by Mr. Lebere played a melange of popular airs on the saxophone, an instrument rarely heard outside the orchestra, and he gave effect to an "Ave Verum" of Signor Tamaro, which was sung by the composer. The saxophone obligato to this charming melody enhanced it considerably. Mr. Eben played some brilliant flute variations on the theme of Chopin's "Marche Tancrède," and Mr. Sachse added a trumpet solo, the other attractions of the concert. An adagio of "The Hall of Mirrors" by Mr. Lebere played a melange of popular airs on the saxophone, an instrument rarely heard outside the orchestra, and he gave effect to an "Ave Verum" of Signor Tamaro, which was sung by the composer. The saxophone obligato to this charming melody enhanced it considerably. Mr. Eben played some brilliant flute variations on the theme of Chopin's "Marche Tancrède," and Mr. Sachse added a trumpet solo, the other attractions of the concert. An adagio of "The Hall of Mirrors" by Mr. Lebere played a melange of popular airs on the saxophone, an instrument rarely heard outside the orchestra, and he gave effect to an "Ave Verum" of Signor Tamaro, which was sung by the composer. The saxophone obligato to this charming melody enhanced it considerably. Mr. Eben played some brilliant flute variations on the theme of Chopin's "Marche Tancrède," and Mr. Sachse added a trumpet solo, the other attractions of the concert. An adagio of "The Hall of Mirrors" by Mr. Lebere played a melange of popular airs on the saxophone, an instrument rarely heard outside the orchestra, and he gave effect to an "Ave Verum" of Signor Tamaro, which was sung by the composer. The saxophone obligato to this charming melody enhanced it considerably. Mr. Eben played some brilliant flute variations on the theme of Chopin's "Marche Tancrède," and Mr. Sachse added a trumpet solo, the other attractions of the concert. An adagio of "The Hall of Mirrors" by Mr. Lebere played a melange of popular airs on the saxophone, an instrument rarely heard outside the orchestra, and he gave effect to an "Ave Verum" of Signor Tamaro, which was sung by the composer. The saxophone obligato to this charming melody enhanced it considerably. Mr. Eben played some brilliant flute variations on the theme of Chopin's "Marche Tancrède," and Mr. Sachse added a trumpet solo, the other attractions of the concert. An adagio of "The Hall of Mirrors" by Mr. Lebere played a melange of popular airs on the saxophone, an instrument rarely heard outside the orchestra, and he gave effect to an "Ave Verum" of Signor Tamaro, which was sung by the composer. The saxophone obligato to this charming melody enhanced it considerably. Mr. Eben played some brilliant flute variations on the theme of Chopin's "Marche Tancrède," and Mr. Sachse added a trumpet solo, the other attractions of the concert. An adagio of "The Hall of Mirrors" by Mr. Lebere played a melange of popular airs on the saxophone, an instrument rarely heard outside the orchestra, and he gave effect to an "Ave Verum" of Signor Tamaro, which was sung by the composer. The saxophone obligato to this charming melody enhanced it considerably. Mr. Eben played some brilliant flute variations on the theme of Chopin's "Marche Tancrède," and Mr. Sachse added a trumpet solo, the other attractions of the concert. An adagio of "The Hall of Mirrors" by Mr. Lebere played a melange of popular airs on the saxophone, an instrument rarely heard outside the orchestra, and he gave effect to an "Ave Verum" of Signor Tamaro, which was sung by the composer. The saxophone obligato to this charming melody enhanced it considerably. Mr. Eben played some brilliant flute variations on the theme of Chopin's "Marche Tancrède," and Mr. Sachse added a trumpet solo, the other attractions of the concert. An adagio of "The Hall of Mirrors" by Mr. Lebere played a melange of popular airs on the saxophone, an instrument rarely heard outside the orchestra, and he gave effect to an "Ave Verum" of Signor Tamaro, which was sung by the composer. The saxophone obligato to this charming melody enhanced it considerably. Mr. Eben played some brilliant flute variations on the theme of Chopin's "Marche Tancrède," and Mr. Sachse added a trumpet solo, the other attractions of the concert. An adagio of "The Hall of Mirrors" by Mr. Lebere played a melange of popular airs on the saxophone, an instrument rarely heard outside the orchestra, and he gave effect to an "Ave Verum" of Signor Tamaro, which was sung by the composer. The saxophone obligato to this charming melody enhanced it considerably. Mr. Eben played some brilliant flute variations on the theme of Chopin's "Marche Tancrède," and Mr. Sachse added a trumpet solo, the other attractions of the concert. An adagio of "The Hall of Mirrors" by Mr. Lebere played a melange of popular airs on the saxophone, an instrument rarely heard outside the orchestra, and he gave effect to an "Ave Verum" of Signor Tamaro, which was sung by the composer. The saxophone obligato to this charming melody enhanced it considerably. Mr. Eben played some brilliant flute variations on the theme of Chopin's "Marche Tancrède," and Mr. Sachse added a trumpet solo, the other attractions of the concert. An adagio of "The Hall of Mirrors" by Mr. Lebere played a melange of popular airs on the saxophone, an instrument rarely heard outside the orchestra, and he gave effect to an "Ave Verum" of Signor Tamaro, which was sung by the composer. The saxophone obligato to this charming melody enhanced it considerably. Mr. Eben played some brilliant flute variations on the theme of Chopin's "Marche Tancrède," and Mr. Sachse added a trumpet solo, the other attractions of the concert. An adagio of "The Hall of Mirrors" by Mr. Lebere played a melange of popular airs on the saxophone, an instrument rarely heard outside the orchestra, and he gave effect to an "Ave Verum" of Signor Tamaro, which was sung by the composer. The saxophone obligato to this charming melody enhanced it considerably. Mr. Eben played some brilliant flute variations on the theme of Chopin's "Marche Tancrède," and Mr. Sachse added a trumpet solo, the other attractions of the concert. An adagio of "The Hall of Mirrors" by Mr. Lebere played a melange of popular airs on the saxophone, an instrument rarely heard outside the orchestra, and he gave effect to an "Ave Verum" of Signor Tamaro, which was sung by the composer. The saxophone obligato to this charming melody enhanced it considerably. Mr. Eben played some brilliant flute variations on the theme of Chopin's "Marche Tancrède," and Mr. Sachse added a trumpet solo, the other attractions of the concert. An adagio of "The Hall of Mirrors" by Mr. Lebere played a melange of popular airs on the saxophone, an instrument rarely heard outside the orchestra, and he gave effect to an "Ave Verum" of Signor Tamaro, which was sung by the composer. The saxophone obligato to this charming melody enhanced it considerably. Mr. Eben played some brilliant flute variations on the theme of Chopin's "Marche Tancrède," and Mr. Sachse added a trumpet solo, the other attractions of the concert. An adagio of "The Hall of Mirrors" by Mr. Lebere played a melange of popular airs on the saxophone, an instrument rarely heard outside the orchestra, and he gave effect to an "Ave Verum" of Signor Tamaro, which was sung by the composer. The saxophone obligato to this charming melody enhanced it considerably. Mr. Eben played some brilliant flute variations on the theme of Chopin's "Marche Tancrède," and Mr. Sachse added a trumpet solo, the other attractions of the concert. An adagio of "The Hall of Mirrors" by Mr. Lebere played a melange of popular airs on the saxophone, an instrument rarely heard outside the orchestra, and he gave effect to an "Ave Verum" of Signor Tamaro, which was sung by the composer. The saxophone obligato to this charming melody enhanced it considerably. Mr. Eben played some brilliant flute variations on the theme of Chopin's "Marche Tancrède," and Mr. Sachse added a trumpet solo, the other attractions of the concert. An adagio of "The Hall of Mirrors" by Mr. Lebere played a melange of popular airs on the saxophone, an instrument rarely heard outside the orchestra, and he gave effect to an "Ave Verum" of Signor Tamaro, which was sung by the composer. The saxophone obligato to this charming melody enhanced it considerably. Mr. Eben played some brilliant flute variations on the theme of Chopin's "Marche Tancrède," and Mr. Sachse added a trumpet solo, the other attractions of the concert. An adagio of "The Hall of Mirrors" by Mr. Lebere played a melange of popular airs on the saxophone, an instrument rarely heard outside the orchestra, and he gave effect to an "Ave Verum" of Signor Tamaro, which was sung by the composer. The saxophone obligato to this charming melody enhanced it considerably. Mr. Eben played some brilliant flute variations on the theme of Chopin's "Marche Tancrède," and Mr. Sachse added a trumpet solo, the other attractions of the concert. An adagio of "The Hall of Mirrors" by Mr. Lebere played a melange of popular airs on the saxophone, an instrument rarely heard outside the orchestra, and he gave effect to an "Ave Verum" of Signor Tamaro, which was sung by the composer. The saxophone obligato to this charming melody enhanced it considerably. Mr. Eben played some brilliant flute variations on the theme of Chopin's "Marche Tancrède," and Mr. Sachse added a trumpet solo, the other attractions of the concert. An adagio of "The Hall of Mirrors" by Mr. Lebere played a melange of popular airs on the saxophone, an instrument rarely heard outside the orchestra, and he gave effect to an "Ave Verum" of Signor Tamaro, which was sung by the composer. The saxophone obligato to this charming melody enhanced it considerably. Mr. Eben played some brilliant flute variations on the theme of Chopin's "Marche Tancrède," and Mr. Sachse added a trumpet solo, the other attractions of the concert. An adagio of "The Hall of Mirrors" by Mr. Lebere played a melange of popular airs on the saxophone, an instrument rarely heard outside the orchestra, and he gave effect to an "Ave Verum" of Signor Tamaro, which was sung by the composer. The saxophone obligato to this charming melody enhanced it considerably. Mr. Eben played some brilliant flute variations on the theme of Chopin's "Marche Tancrède," and Mr. Sachse added a trumpet solo, the other attractions of the concert. An adagio of "The Hall of Mirrors" by Mr. Lebere played a melange of popular airs on the saxophone, an instrument rarely heard outside the orchestra, and he gave effect to an "Ave Verum" of Signor Tamaro, which was sung by the composer. The saxophone obligato to this charming melody enhanced it considerably. Mr. Eben played some brilliant flute variations on the theme of Chopin's "Marche Tancrède," and Mr. Sachse added a trumpet solo, the other attractions of the concert. An adagio of "The Hall of Mirrors" by Mr. Lebere played a melange of popular airs on the saxophone, an instrument rarely heard outside the orchestra, and he gave effect to an "Ave Verum" of Signor Tamaro, which was sung by the composer. The saxophone obligato to this charming melody enhanced it considerably. Mr. Eben played some brilliant flute variations on the theme of Chopin's "Marche Tancrède," and Mr. Sachse added a trumpet solo, the other attractions of the concert. An adagio of "The Hall of Mirrors" by Mr. Lebere played a melange of popular airs on the saxophone, an instrument rarely heard outside the orchestra, and he gave effect to an "Ave Verum" of Signor Tamaro, which was sung by the composer. The saxophone obligato to this charming melody enhanced it considerably. Mr. Eben played some brilliant flute variations on the theme of Chopin's "Marche Tancrède," and Mr. Sachse added a trumpet solo, the other attractions of the concert. An adagio of "The Hall of Mirrors" by Mr. Lebere played a melange of popular airs on the saxophone, an instrument rarely heard outside the orchestra, and he gave effect to an "Ave Verum" of Signor Tamaro, which was sung by the composer. The saxophone obligato to this charming melody enhanced it considerably. Mr. Eben played some brilliant flute variations on the theme of Chopin's "Marche Tancrède," and Mr. Sachse added a trumpet solo, the other attractions of the concert. An adagio of "The Hall of Mirrors" by Mr. Lebere played a melange of popular airs on the saxophone, an instrument rarely heard outside the orchestra, and he gave effect to an "Ave Verum" of Signor Tamaro, which was sung by the composer. The saxophone obligato to this charming melody enhanced it considerably. Mr. Eben played some brilliant flute variations on the theme of Chopin's "Marche Tancrède," and Mr. Sachse added a trumpet solo, the other attractions of the concert. An adagio of "The Hall of Mirrors" by Mr. Lebere played a melange of popular airs on the saxophone, an instrument rarely heard outside the orchestra, and he gave effect to an "Ave Verum" of Signor Tamaro, which was sung by the composer. The saxophone obligato to this charming melody enhanced it considerably. Mr. Eben played some brilliant flute variations on the theme of Chopin's "Marche Tancrède," and Mr. Sachse added a trumpet solo, the other attractions of the concert. An adagio of "The Hall of Mirrors" by Mr. Lebere played a melange of popular airs on the saxophone, an instrument rarely heard outside the orchestra, and he gave effect to an "Ave Verum" of Signor Tamaro, which was sung by the composer. The saxophone obligato to this charming melody enhanced it considerably. Mr. Eben played some brilliant flute variations on the theme of Chopin's "Marche Tancrède," and Mr. Sachse added a trumpet solo, the other attractions of the concert. An adagio of "The Hall of Mirrors" by Mr. Lebere played a melange of popular airs on the saxophone, an instrument rarely heard outside the orchestra, and he gave effect to an "Ave Verum" of Signor Tamaro, which was sung by the composer. The saxophone obligato to this charming melody enhanced it considerably. Mr. Eben played some brilliant flute variations on the theme of Chopin's "Marche Tancrède," and Mr. Sachse added a trumpet solo, the other attractions of the concert. An adagio of "The Hall of Mirrors" by Mr. Lebere played a melange of popular airs on the saxophone, an instrument rarely heard outside the orchestra, and he gave effect to an "Ave Verum" of Signor Tamaro, which was sung by the composer. The saxophone obligato to this charming melody enhanced it considerably. Mr. Eben played some brilliant flute variations on the theme of Chopin's "Marche Tancrède," and Mr. Sachse added a trumpet solo, the other attractions of the concert. An adagio of "The Hall of Mirrors" by Mr. Lebere played a melange of popular airs on the saxophone, an instrument rarely heard outside the orchestra, and he gave effect to an "Ave Verum" of Signor Tamaro, which was sung by the composer. The saxophone obligato to this charming melody enhanced it considerably. Mr. Eben played some brilliant flute variations on the theme of Chopin's "Marche Tancrède," and Mr. Sachse added a trumpet solo, the other attractions of the concert. An adagio of "The Hall of Mirrors" by Mr. Lebere played a melange of popular airs on the saxophone, an instrument rarely heard outside the orchestra, and he gave effect to an "Ave Verum" of Signor Tamaro, which was sung by the composer. The saxophone obligato to this charming melody enhanced it considerably. Mr. Eben played some brilliant flute variations on the theme of Chopin's "Marche Tancrède," and Mr. Sachse added a trumpet solo, the other attractions of the concert. An adagio of "The Hall of Mirrors" by Mr. Lebere played a melange of popular airs on the saxophone, an instrument rarely heard outside the orchestra, and he gave effect to an "Ave Verum" of Signor Tamaro, which was sung by the composer. The saxophone obligato to this charming melody enhanced it considerably. Mr. Eben played some brilliant flute variations on the theme of Chopin's "Marche Tancrède," and Mr. Sachse added a trumpet solo, the other attractions of the concert. An adagio of "The Hall of Mirrors" by Mr. Lebere played a melange of popular airs on the saxophone, an instrument rarely heard outside the orchestra, and he gave effect to an "Ave Verum" of Signor Tamaro, which was sung by the composer. The saxophone obligato to this charming melody enhanced it considerably. Mr. Eben played some brilliant flute variations on the theme of Chopin's "Marche Tancrède," and Mr. Sachse added a trumpet solo, the other attractions of the concert. An adagio of "The Hall of Mirrors" by Mr. Lebere played a melange of popular airs on the saxophone, an instrument rarely heard outside the orchestra, and he gave effect to an "Ave Verum" of Signor Tamaro, which was sung by the composer. The saxophone obligato to this charming melody enhanced it considerably. Mr. Eben played some brilliant flute variations on the theme of Chopin's "Marche Tancrède," and Mr. Sachse added a trumpet solo, the other attractions of the concert. An adagio of "The Hall of Mirrors" by Mr. Lebere played a melange of popular airs on the saxophone, an instrument rarely heard outside the orchestra, and he gave effect to an "Ave Verum" of Signor Tamaro, which was sung by the composer. The saxophone obligato to this charming melody enhanced it considerably. Mr. Eben played some brilliant flute variations on the theme of Chopin's "Marche Tancrède," and Mr. Sachse added a trumpet solo, the other attractions of the concert. An adagio of "The Hall of Mirrors" by Mr. Lebere played a melange of popular airs on the saxophone, an instrument rarely heard outside the orchestra, and he gave effect to an "Ave Verum" of Signor Tamaro, which was sung by the composer. The saxophone obligato to this charming melody enhanced it considerably. Mr. Eben played some brilliant flute variations on the theme of Chopin's "Marche Tancrède," and Mr. Sachse added a trumpet solo, the other attractions of the concert. An adagio of "The Hall of Mirrors" by Mr. Lebere played a melange of popular airs on the saxophone, an instrument rarely heard outside the orchestra, and he gave effect to an "Ave Verum" of Signor Tamaro, which was sung by the composer. The saxophone obligato to this charming melody enhanced it considerably. Mr. Eben played some brilliant flute variations on the theme of Chopin's "Marche Tancrède," and Mr. Sachse added a trumpet solo, the other attractions of the concert. An adagio of "The Hall of Mirrors" by Mr. Lebere played a melange of popular airs on the saxophone, an instrument rarely heard outside the orchestra, and he gave effect to an "Ave Verum" of Signor Tamaro, which was sung by the composer. The saxophone obligato to this charming melody enhanced it considerably. Mr. Eben played some brilliant flute variations on the theme of Chopin's "Marche Tancrède," and Mr. Sachse added a trumpet solo, the other attractions of the concert. An adagio of "The Hall of Mirrors" by Mr. Lebere played a melange of popular airs on the saxophone, an instrument rarely heard outside the orchestra, and he gave effect to an "Ave Verum" of Signor Tamaro, which was sung by the composer. The saxophone obligato to this charming melody enhanced it considerably. Mr. Eben played some brilliant flute variations on the theme of Chopin's "Marche Tancrède," and Mr. Sachse added a trumpet solo, the other attractions of the concert. An adagio of "The Hall of Mirrors" by Mr. Lebere played a melange of popular airs on the saxophone, an instrument rarely heard outside the orchestra, and he gave effect to an "Ave Verum" of Signor Tamaro, which was sung by the composer. The saxophone obligato to this charming melody enhanced it considerably. Mr. Eben played some brilliant flute variations on the theme of Chopin's "Marche Tancrède," and Mr. Sachse added a trumpet solo, the other attractions of the concert. An adagio of "The Hall of Mirrors" by Mr. Lebere played a melange of popular airs on the saxophone, an instrument rarely heard outside the orchestra, and he gave effect to an "Ave Verum" of Signor Tamaro, which was sung by the composer. The saxophone obligato to this charming melody enhanced it considerably. Mr. Eben played some brilliant flute variations on the theme of Chopin's "Marche Tancrède," and Mr. Sachse added a trumpet solo, the other attractions of the concert. An adagio of "The Hall of Mirrors" by Mr. Lebere played a melange of popular airs on the saxophone, an instrument rarely heard outside the orchestra, and he gave effect to an "Ave Verum" of Signor Tamaro, which was sung by the composer. The saxophone obligato to this charming melody enhanced it considerably. Mr. Eben played some brilliant flute variations on the theme of Chopin's "Marche Tancrède," and Mr. Sachse added a trumpet solo, the other attractions of the concert. An adagio of "The Hall of Mirrors" by Mr. Lebere played a melange of popular airs on the saxophone, an instrument rarely heard outside the orchestra, and he gave effect to an "Ave Verum" of Signor Tamaro, which was sung by the composer. The saxophone obligato to this charming melody enhanced it considerably. Mr. Eben played some brilliant flute variations on the theme of Chopin's "Marche Tancrède," and Mr. Sachse added a trumpet solo, the other attractions of the concert. An adagio of "The Hall of Mirrors" by Mr. Lebere played a melange of popular airs on the saxophone, an instrument rarely heard outside the orchestra, and he gave effect to an "Ave Verum" of Signor Tamaro, which was sung by the composer. The saxophone obligato to this charming melody enhanced it considerably. Mr. Eben played some brilliant flute variations on the theme of Chopin's "Marche Tancrède," and Mr. Sachse added a trumpet solo, the other attractions of the concert. An adagio of "The Hall of Mirrors" by Mr. Lebere played a melange of popular airs on the saxophone, an instrument rarely heard outside the orchestra, and he gave effect to an "Ave Verum" of Signor Tamaro, which was sung by the composer. The saxophone obligato to this charming melody enhanced it considerably. Mr. Eben played some brilliant flute variations on the theme of Chopin's "Marche Tancrède," and Mr. Sachse added a trumpet solo, the other attractions of the concert. An adagio of "The Hall of Mirrors" by Mr. Lebere played a melange of popular airs on the saxophone, an instrument rarely heard outside the orchestra, and he gave effect to an "Ave Verum" of Signor Tamaro, which was sung by the composer. The saxophone obligato to this charming melody enhanced it considerably. Mr. Eben played some brilliant flute variations on the theme of Chopin's "Marche Tancrède," and Mr. Sachse added a trumpet solo, the other attractions of the concert. An adagio of "The Hall of Mirrors" by Mr. Lebere played a melange of popular airs on the saxophone, an instrument rarely heard outside the orchestra, and he gave effect to an "Ave Verum" of Signor Tamaro, which was sung by the composer. The saxophone obligato to this charming melody enhanced it considerably. Mr. Eben played some brilliant flute variations on the theme of Chopin's "Marche Tancrède," and Mr. Sachse added a trumpet solo, the other attractions of the concert. An adagio of "The Hall of Mirrors" by Mr. Lebere played a melange of popular airs on the saxophone, an instrument rarely heard outside the orchestra, and he gave effect to an "Ave Verum" of Signor Tamaro, which was sung by the composer. The saxophone obligato to this charming melody enhanced it considerably. Mr. Eben played some brilliant flute variations on the theme of Chopin's "Marche Tancrède," and Mr. Sachse added a trumpet solo, the other attractions of the concert. An adagio of "The Hall of Mirrors" by Mr. Lebere played a melange of popular airs on the saxophone, an instrument rarely heard outside the orchestra, and he gave effect to an "Ave Verum" of Signor Tamaro, which was sung by the composer. The saxophone obligato to this charming melody enhanced it considerably. Mr. Eben played some brilliant flute variations on the theme of Chopin's "Marche Tancrède," and Mr. Sachse added a trumpet solo, the other attractions of the concert. An adagio of "The Hall of Mirrors" by Mr. Lebere played a melange of popular airs on the saxophone, an instrument rarely heard outside the orchestra, and he gave effect to an "Ave Verum" of Signor Tamaro, which was sung by the composer. The saxophone obligato to this charming melody enhanced it considerably. Mr. Eben played some brilliant flute variations on the theme of Chopin's "Marche Tancrède," and Mr. Sachse added a trumpet solo, the other attractions of the concert. An adagio of "The Hall of Mirrors" by Mr. Lebere played a melange of popular airs on the saxophone, an instrument rarely heard outside the orchestra, and he gave effect to an "Ave Verum" of Signor Tamaro, which was sung by the composer. The saxophone obligato to this charming melody enhanced it considerably. Mr. Eben played some brilliant flute variations on the theme of Chopin's "Marche Tancrède," and Mr. Sachse added a trumpet solo, the other attractions of the concert. An adagio of "The Hall of Mirrors" by Mr. Lebere played a melange of popular airs on the saxophone, an instrument rarely heard outside the orchestra, and he gave effect to an "Ave Verum" of Signor Tamaro, which was sung by the composer. The saxophone obligato to this charming melody enhanced it considerably. Mr. Eben played some brilliant flute variations on the theme of Chopin's "Marche Tancrède," and Mr. Sachse added a trumpet solo, the other attractions of the concert. An adagio of "The Hall of Mirrors" by Mr. Lebere played a melange of popular airs on the saxophone, an instrument rarely heard outside the orchestra, and he gave effect to an "Ave Verum" of Signor Tamaro, which was sung by the composer. The saxophone obligato to this charming melody enhanced it considerably. Mr. Eben played some brilliant flute variations on the theme of Chopin's "Marche Tancrède," and Mr. Sachse added a trumpet solo, the other attractions of the concert. An adagio of "The Hall of Mirrors" by Mr. Lebere played a melange of popular airs on the saxophone, an instrument rarely heard outside the orchestra, and he gave effect to an "Ave Verum" of Signor Tamaro, which was sung by the composer. The saxophone obligato to this charming melody enhanced it considerably. Mr. Eben played some brilliant flute variations on the theme of Chopin's "Marche Tancrède," and Mr. Sachse added a trumpet solo, the other attractions of the concert. An adagio of "The Hall of Mirrors" by Mr. Lebere played a melange of popular airs on the saxophone, an instrument rarely heard outside the orchestra, and he gave effect to an "Ave Verum" of Signor Tamaro, which was sung by the composer. The saxophone obligato to this charming melody enhanced it considerably. Mr. Eben played some brilliant flute variations on the theme of Chopin's "Marche Tancrède," and Mr. Sachse added a trumpet solo, the other attractions of the concert. An adagio of "The Hall of Mirrors" by